

GRIPSURE CASE STUDY

The Lost Gardens of Heligan, Cornwall – Boardwalk

Gripsure designed the bespoke decking to replace the previous 'Jungle' walk-way, which consisted of wooden boards covered with chicken wire.

The brief was for a boardwalk with a very high non-slip rating that was as safe as possible for visitors, while not detracting visually from the famous exotic gardens. As well as complementing the historic plants, some of which were brought back to Cornwall by Victorian collectors, the boards also had to be durable to cope with high traffic over a number of years, as an estimated 170,000 people a year will tread the 100 metre boardwalk.

GRIPSURE PRO - CLASSIC

With an independent slip resistant rating of 100PTV (pendulum test value), Pro Classic achieves the highest safety rating on the market and is ideal for high profile projects.

“Gripsure have created a new boardwalk that enhances the look and feel of the Jungle. They provided us with a quality product at a competitive price as well as a friendly and professional service, where nothing was too much trouble. We are very happy with the results.”
